CHINA ARRIVES FROM ORIENT

The Pacific Mail company's liner China was sighted off port at about half past ten yesterday morning and came up to the Hackfeld wharf at about half past one. She had a large passenger list and a big crowd of steerage passengers, so the doctor's examination was a lengthy one. As the plague is raging in Hongkong the examination was particularly severe but the vessel was passed without any difficulty. She will unload only some 200 tons of miscellaneous freight at this port and will sail at 6 o'clock this morning for San Francisco.

Captain D. E. Friele, well known in this city, is in command of the China. He reports that fine weather was experienced and that the trip was very uneventful. All the officers and passengers were eager for the latest war news and papers were eagerly scanned. Although from ports near the seat of hostilities the China's passengers said that they knew much less about the war than Honolulu people on account of the rigid and successful censorship that the Japanese are maintaining.

Among the passengers is Rear Admiral P. H. Cooper, U. S. N., who has just left the command of the Asiatic fleet and is going home to retire. With him are Lieutenant Victor Blue, Flag Lieutenant of the Admiral's staff and Dr. F. E. McCullough, staff surgeon.

Mr. Paul Cowles is the Western Manager of the Associated Press and is returning from the Russo-Japanese war. Mr. R. de B. Lazard, the new British Consul at this place, was a passenger with his family. He is from Nagasaki. Major C. M. Perkins of the United States Marine Corps is on his way from Manila to the coast on sick leave.

Mr. H. W. Elliott is the brother-in-law of R. P. Schwerin, General manager of the Pacific Mail company.

A large number of Japanese are aboard, most of them on their way to the St. Louis Exposition.

PATTERSON IS IN ARCTIC WATERS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The little survey steamer Patterson is safe. She is now doing some survey work in the vicinity of the Aleutian Islands, and on its completion will journey to the Hawaiian Islands.

For the past few days there have been expressions of concern regarding her welfare. Some time ago the steamer, bound from Seattle for Honolulu, put in at this port on account of her boilers being in a bad condition, and when she sailed it was presumed that her destination was Honolulu, but those in authority state that she was sent to Kiska, Alaska, where she will engage in survey work during the summer, and then go to the Hawaiian Islands and spend the winter.

Those interested in the Patterson were aware of the poor condition of her boilers, and the absence of news relative to her whereabouts gave them the impression that all was not well with the little steamer, but to-day the office of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey gave out the news that she was safe in Alaska.

KOREA COMES IN FROM THE COAST

The big Pacific Mail steamship Korea arrived in the offing early yesterday morning from San Francisco. She docked at Naval Wharf No. 1 at about 8 o'clock. Her port breast line snapped under the strain as she came up to the dock but the bow line held her in and prevented any trouble. The steamer has 7000 tons of freight for Oriental ports, part of it railway material for Japan.

Among the passengers is Alfred L. Castle, the Harvard pitcher, who is being anxiously awaited by the Puna-hous. He will probably pitch in Saturday's game.

Dr. C. B. Cooper, who has been attending the annual conference of State and Territorial health officers, called by the Surgeon-General, is home from Washington.

Miss M. B. Logan, the daughter of Daniel Logan of the Advertiser staff, is returning to this city after a four years' stay in Germany and a visit at Long Beach, California.

Mrs. F. G. Bickerton is returning from a long visit to the mainland.

W. Beakbane, the engraver, is home from a visit to the States.

Mrs. A. F. Judd and daughters, Miss S. B. Judd and Miss A. E. Judd, are home from a trip abroad.

Miss Alice Jones is home from a short visit on the mainland.

Mrs. J. B. Goodrich, the wife of a citrus grower in lower California, is here for a three months' visit with her brothers, George and Harry Denison of the O. R. & L. Co.

Mrs. J. M. Riggs, wife of J. M. Riggs, of Waterhouse & Co., is home from a visit to the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilder are home from Paris.

As the steamer is to call at Manila this voyage she carries a large list of passengers for that port. Among them are Mrs. Richardson Clover, wife of Captain Clover of the battleship Wisconsin and her daughters, Miss E. C. Clover and Miss B. C. Clover.

Miss Katrina Wright is the daughter of Governor Luke E. Wright of the Philippines.

Captain S. M. Ackley and Lieut. Geo. W. Sams are naval officers ordered to duty on the Asiatic station.

W. Cameron Forbes is a member of the Philippine Commission.

The steamer got away for the Orient last night at 6 o'clock. Dr. Frank S. Scudder and family were among the passengers from Honolulu.

Lucas, C. Lucas and J. Lucas, partners under the name of Lucas Brothers, Justice Hatch being disqualified. Circuit Judge Gear sat with the Chief Justice and Justice Hartwell. Ballou & Marx appeared for plaintiff, and M. F. Prosser, Assistant Attorney General, for Holloway.

Shipping Notes.

The schooner Charles Levi Woodbury is now at the Irmgard wharf unloading wood.

The schooner Ada will sail for Kahului, Hana and Elele at 8 o'clock this morning.

The U. S. S. Iroquois sails today for Maui where Captain Niblack will inspect lighthouses.

The schooner Mol Wahine brought up 1700 bags Kohala sugar from Hamakua Sunday night.

Captain Niblack has received orders to make an inspection of the site for a wireless telegraph station at Kahuku.

The gunboats Vicksburg and Annapolis passed Honolulu by. They have arrived at Mare Island from the Orient.

The schooner Kawallani will get away for Koolau ports at 2 o'clock this afternoon. She carries freight for Punaluu and Kahana.

Chief Yeoman White of the Naval Station has received a cablegram from Port Angeles announcing the arrival of the gunboat Wheeling from this port.

T. J. Keeney, an officer on inter-island steamers and master of the schooner Julia E. Whalen at the time she was wrecked on Midway Island, is fourth officer on the Korea.

The waterfront is to be further improved by the extension of Smith street from King to Queen through the Iron Works property. This will give better access to the wharves.

STEAMPOUGH PETERS OUT

Was an Easy Victim for Japanese Champion.

Wakaminato is still the undisputed champion of the Japanese sand-pit. "Steamplough," the strong Japanese man from Kauai, reached next to the last round from the top of the championship ladder and was sent to the bottom in two dexterous throws.

The long-expected match came off last night at 11:30 at the Aala theater and in less than five minutes the contest was over. Wakaminato is a wonderful wrestler and apparently possessed of every known feature of the mysterious Jujitsu. He is of somewhat heavy build, with broad shoulders, deep chest, well turned legs and arms beautifully moulded. Every movement of his body is graceful and he appears in the ring, wearing only a loin girdle. "Steamplough," on the other hand, is a couple of inches taller, of spare build, but muscular. Yet he, like many other good wrestlers, is like a child in Wakaminato's trained hands.

The first bout brought the two men together in the usual effort to push each other backward. Then came a mutual clinch and for an instant it seemed as if Wakaminato's foot would extend beyond the limits of the ring—a losing movement. But quick as a cat he turned, dragged his opponent to the center of the ring, and then with this remarkable Jujitsu movement of grasping the opponent's wrist, Wakaminato threw "Steamplough" over his shoulder and out of the arena. This took nine seconds.

The second bout lasted only eight seconds. Before the audience could see what hold Wakaminato had, "Steamplough" suddenly toppled over and fell upon his back in the middle of the ring.
